

LIND KNOWN AS REGULAR SPHINX

President's Envoy to Mexico Was Discovered by Bryan for Delicate Task.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—John Lind, the political stormy petrel of the northwest, is on the way to Mexico City on a peace mission. Imperturbable to all that has gone on about him in the past, and likely to continue imperturbable to all that may go on about him in the near future, John Lind, paramount commissioner to Mexico and personal representative of the president of the United States, has an opportunity in which his fellow countrymen are most deeply interested.

If Mr. Lind were going to Mexico as a well-wisher of the Huerta government his job might be regarded as a junket. Instead he is delegated to bring about peace by asking every man in Mexico to give up his job, whether that job be a president of the republic of Mexico or a water carrier in the rear ranks of the constitutional army in the dense chaparral along the Rio Grande. The possibilities of the undertaking are marvelous. It was doubtless in view of this fact that Secretary of State Bryan selected John Lind.

Bryan "Makes Discovery." Lest some one challenge the assertion that Secretary Bryan picked out Lind, he is known that while Bryan knew favorably of him as a man and a democrat, he was not aware of his monumental ignorance concerning Mexico and, therefore, paid him the high compliment of judging that it remained for Mr. Bryan to discover that Mr. Lind had never written a book about Mexico, had not rushed into print on the Mexican situation, and that if he ever heard of the country at all it had failed to become public knowledge.

When soldiers go to war it is customary for the bands to play "The Girl I Left Behind Me." In the case of John Lind, the sphinx, there are some misgivings as to just what the chorus would unite upon. In the first place, Lind is not going for war, but for peace. In the second place, there is Sen. Knute Nelson, the official sphinx of the Northwest, who is almost as inscrutable as Lind, the sphinx of the Swedes. It has been a noteworthy fact in Minnesota history for a good many years that verbal cyclones in Minnesota usually passed over John Lind and Knute Nelson secure in the bottom of a cyclone cellar. Nevertheless, they have been political rivals for years.

Lind and Nelson Break. As long as Lind stayed in the republican party, which he did up to 1896, there never was a democrat who had a chance to win in Minnesota against the Lind-Nelson combination. Lind was the first to break it in 1899, when he became the first democratic governor of Minnesota. Nelson and the republicans beat him for re-election, and when the democrats nominated Lind in 1910 he was elected to the Pacific coast and never spoke for weeks.

When he did, he said "No," and Nelson showed another one of his people, Gov. Eberhardt, into the governor's chair. Just before that, however, Lind had countered on Nelson with John A. Johnson, with whom Lind always got along in politics.

Mr. Lind can be a man of action when occasion demands. Although he has only one hand, having lost the other in early life, he has both the reach and the punch which would become a man twice his size. During his term as governor of Minnesota he endured a verbal pounding from a newspaper editor in St. Paul without betraying the fact that he resented a single line said about him. When the day for parting from his job arrived, Lind said good-bye to everybody, put on his coat and walked down to the newspaper office. He went up to the editorial room with all the air of a casual visitor, called the editor into the hall and left him prostrate. He then reentered the elevator, spoke to his friends whom he met on the street, passed on to his home and, so far as known, has never mentioned the incident since.

Washington is deeply interested in the mission of John Lind. So is the entire country. Difficult as is his mission and harnessed and hobbled as he is by the fact that he is only a paramount commissioner, his job is far from being an easy one. The best wishes of the country have gone with him, and the only criticism heard concerning his appointment was contained in Sen. Clark's resolution in the senate, which, while it did not criticize Mr. Lind at all, did point out that the administration had taken no new steps to protect American lives and property in Mexico pending the outcome of Mr. Lind's mission of peace. Some day John Lind will speak out from the City of Mexico or possibly

EMPEROR GIVES GUNS TO SOCIETY

Richmond Man on Visit to Berlin Tells Kaiser He Wanted to Shoot Indians.

RICHMOND, Ind., Aug. 11.—William Dunning, a Richmond locksmith, returned Sunday from Berlin, where he attended the reunion of the German Company, of which Kaiser Wilhelm was captain before he became emperor. The reunion was held in conjunction with the celebration of the silver anniversary of William's reign. Dunning informed the members of the German Military Verein of this city that the emperor had sent 12 Mauser rifles to them, which had been used in the Franco-Prussian war. He sent the rifles for use in firing salutes at burials of members of the organization. This gift was the result of a personal interview Dunning had with his old captain, the emperor.

"After the members of the Kaiser's old company were drawn up in San Souci park, Berlin, for his inspection he had a little talk with all of us," said Dunning. "He asked me how I liked America and why I had come to this country. Then I asked him for some rifle for the Richmond Military Verein."

"What do you want them for?" he asked. "To shoot Indians with," I answered, and the emperor laughed loudly. When I told him what I really did want them for he told me that they would be sent as soon as possible."

EMPEROR AND KING EXCHANGE MESSAGES

Roumania's Ruler is Commended For Part His Country Took to Insure Peace.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—Emperor William and the King of Roumania Sunday exchanged the following telegrams in connection with the conclusion of peace among the Balkans: "Bucharest.—The conclusion of peace is assured after great difficulties have been overcome. Thanks to you it will be final. I thank you with my whole heart for your loyal friendship and warm good will." (Signed) "Seinennende.—Your telegram, which reached me tonight, is a great and real joy to me. I offer you my sincerest and heartiest congratulations on your splendid success for which not only your people but also the belligerent states and all Europe have to thank you for your wise and truly statesmanlike policy. At the same time your mentioning that I have been able to contribute something to the result achieved is a great satisfaction to me. I rejoice that our mutual co-operation was in the cause of peace." (Signed) "Wilhelm."

WONDERFUL HOW RESINOL CURED ITCHING HUMOR

New York, N. Y., May 19, 1913.—"I was taken with a terrible itching and burning in my hands. They would crack and bleed. I could not do my work. I had to walk the floors at night. I tried— and —, but no relief, until I used Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment—then I could go to sleep. The Resinol treatment is something wonderful, for if you could see my hands, you would never think that they were ever sore—they are so nice and soft, and I can do all my work now." (Signed) Mrs. Wm. Sutherland, 135 East 71st St.

For 18 years Resinol has been a doctor's prescription and household remedy for eczema, ringworm, pimples, dandruff, wounds, burns, sores and piles. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists. Trial free; Dept. 5-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—Advertisement.

through Pres. Wilson. When he does the country can be assured that his best effort of his strong intellect, his solid judgment and his indomitable courage has been thrown into the breach in the interest of permanent peace in Mexico and the most cordial relationship between the republic of Mexico and the government and people of the United States.

PLAN OPERATION; PATIENT REBELLED

Ordinary Doctors Said Operate, But They Were All Mistaken in Recommending Knife.

Mrs. H. C. Beard, of Crestline, Ohio, rebelled when the surgeon told her the only hope of saving her life was a dangerous operation. Mrs. Beard had heard of others who had been saved by the New Method Treatment of the United Doctors, who have their South Bend Institute located on the second floor of the Toepf Building on S. Main st., opposite the post office, and she decided that it would be so much more agreeable to take this new and conservative treatment than to risk her life under the surgeon's knife. Now, after taking the United Doctors' treatment she is sure that she did the right thing. When she went to these modern medical specialists, and she has written the following letter for publication: "For five years I have suffered with bleeding and protruding piles. Treated with physicians in three different towns, used different treatments, procured from the drug stores, but with no relief. I have been a great sufferer for five years. Finally the doctors told me that an operation was the only cure for me. They said that in a case as severe as mine that they new of nothing but an operation that would cure me. "I read in the Mansfield papers of the good work they were doing at the United Doctors' Institute on Main st., and also heard so many people talk of their cures, that I decided to go and consult them. I went only to get their opinion, not dreaming that such a thing as a cure could be realized. Today it is just one week since I commenced on their treatment, and I am happy to say that in the first time in five years I am free from pain. The first couple of days they bled very little, whereas before I would lose a pint of blood. I would have to lie down before I could gather enough strength to go on with my housework. "To all women, or to men who are suffering from hemorrhoids I want to say that the treatment I have received from the doctor in charge at this institute was the most satisfactory, and I heartily recommend them to all. I cannot say enough in their behalf."

MRS. H. C. BEARD, R. F. D. No. 3, Crestline, Ohio. Any sick person is safe in going to the United Doctors. Their examination is free, but cases which are beyond relief will not be accepted for treatment. These specialists treat all chronic diseases of the Nerves, Blood, Skin, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Rheumatism, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Loss of Nerve Force, Constipation, Gout, Catarrh, Epilepsy, Weak back, Bloating, Dropsy, Blood Poison, Eczema, Scrofula, etc.

ANOTHER SCANDAL AND PROPHET IS CONCERNED

Hosea Knew His Wife Wasn't a Lady Before He Married Her, Says the Professor.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—The Prophet Hosea not only was "some" prophet when it came to peering into the future, but he was "there" when it came to looking into the past. And he knew that Mrs. Hosea was no lady before he married her. Prof. J. M. Smith, of the University of Chicago, digs up this bit of Biblical scandal, in the Biblical World in an article on the "Marriage of Hosea." Contrary to the usual interpretation, Gomer Bath Diblaim did not travel in the best of society before she announced her engagement to Hosea, the professor explained. Had she lived in 1913 she probably would have worn diaphanous gowns and have been frequently mentioned in divorce suits. But Hosea knew he was marrying a woman "with a past." He married her to set a horrible example to all the neighbors and then he kept his eye on her until he was assured that she was done with the gay things of life and ready to "settle down."

"Thus Hosea," says the professor in conclusion, "becomes one more illustration of the passion of self-sacrifice when exercised in behalf of patriotism and religion."

CAT AND CANARY; AN UNUSUAL TALE

Bird Flies Away and Feline Turns Sleuth and Returns It Unharmed.

READING, Pa., Aug. 11.—While Mrs. Franklin Woods of Denver township was cleaning her canary bird's cage four days ago the canary flew away. The family cat seemed disconsolate. That night the cat disappeared and nothing was seen of either of the household pets until today, when the cat came home tenderly holding the missing bird by a wing, pussy delivered her burden to Mr. Woods. His wife at once restored it to its cage. There was not a scratch on the bird. Mr. Woods believes the cat went out in search of the missing canary and when heard its song captured it.

WANTS WOMEN JURY TO JUDGE AS TO HER GUILT

Woman Who Murdered Her Fiance Says They Would Understand and Free Her of Charge.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Convinced that she will be acquitted of the charge of murdering her fiance, Dr. Stanley E. Tron, Miss Emma Elizabeth Krill Sunday declared she desired beyond all else that there was a New York state law which would permit her to be tried before a jury of women. "A jury of women would understand everything," she said Saturday afternoon. Dr. Tron and I both looked forward to our marriage and the stories that I was jealous are ridiculous. I trusted Dr. Tron too much to be jealous in three different towns, used different treatments, procured from the drug stores, but with no relief. I have been a great sufferer for five years. Finally the doctors told me that an operation was the only cure for me. They said that in a case as severe as mine that they new of nothing but an operation that would cure me.
